7th Asia-pacific Conference on Education, Teaching & Technology 2025

"Redefining Education: Tech-Driven, Equitable, Sustainable"

22-23 July, Bangkok, Thailand

We are thrilled to announce the 7th Asia-Pacific Conference on Education, Teaching & Technology 2025 (AP-EduTeach2025) inviting researchers, educators, practitioners, and innovators to contribute to this dynamic dialogue at the forefront of education evolution. The theme "Redefining Education: Tech-Driven, Equitable, Sustainable" emphasizes the transformative role of technology in reshaping educational systems to be more inclusive and accessible. It highlights the need for equitable opportunities that bridge gaps and empower all learners, regardless of their background. This approach prioritizes sustainability, ensuring that educational innovations are designed to be resilient, adaptable, and environmentally responsible. Ultimately, the theme calls for a re-imagining of education that leverages technology to foster a fair and sustainable future for all.

In a rapidly changing world, the intersections of education, teaching, and technology are reshaping the way we learn and teach. This conference provides a platform to explore how these three pillars converge to create an immersive, inclusive, and innovative learning experience. We expect submissions that delve into the latest trends, challenges, and opportunities across the spectrum of education, embracing cutting-edge technology and fostering transformative change. We welcome individual paper presentations, panel sessions, round table discussions, short films and posters.
